DAVID GOLDBERG

Proposed guest for The Shawn Ryan Show

Host of Inside the Polygraph | Founder of Executive Protection Group Polygraph Service

Why This Conversation

David can give Shawn a chronological, first-person conversation spanning self-described Navy service, police detective work, Ground Zero, and a 25+ year polygraph career.† Twenty-five years after 9/11, his account can preserve lived history while leaving room for hard questions about what polygraphs can and cannot establish, how examiners handle pressure, and where professional ethics draw a line.

Interview Arc

- Ground Zero in his own words David says he traveled to New York with law-enforcement officers and took part in rescue-and-recovery work after September 11. Explore what he saw, what he carried home, and what details need to enter the historical record.†
- What a polygraph actually measures Physiology, comparison questions, scoring, countermeasures, false confidence, and why the instrument does not read minds or independently prove guilt.
- Inside the interview room Rapport, baseline behavior, trauma, memory, confirmation bias, and the crucial difference between stress and deception.
- Truth service and due process What David's self-described Navy and detective background taught him about grave allegations, service-member cases, and protecting a fair process without becoming an advocate for either side.†
- Polygraphs on camera Lessons from recent Soft White Underbelly and Whatever appearances, including the tension between production value and professional testing standards.

Published experience claim David reports 25+ years in polygraph practice; on Whatever Podcast he described it as 25 years. Executive Protection Group reports 20,000+ certified, documented examinations as of 2026.†
